

Boy Scout BBQ

The local Boy Scouts of America troops from Moab WILL put on a BBQ dinner on Thursday evening of the Easter Jeep Safari. This dinner is held in the Spanish Trail Arena on Thursday, March 29th, evening during the Expo. This annual Expo features over 200 vendors from all over the US displaying the latest in 4x4 parts and accessories. Plan your Thursday evening to attend the Expo and eat with the Boy Scouts. This is the sole money raiser for the local Boy Scout Troops. When unable to attend the BBQ Dinner, it is nice to make a donation to the Scouting movement.

All proceeds go the local Scout Troops, and pay for all the Scouts summer camp at Blue Mountain Scout Camp. The boys are also awarded prizes for the number of tickets that they sell.

The meal includes a BBQ Sandwich, baked potato with sour cream and butter, salad, and a cold soda. The Scouts set up two cafeteria style lines to serve quickly and efficiently. The meat is prepared in the kitchen of a local rafting company, and delivered to the Spanish Trail Arena prior to the dinner. Scout parents will wrap in tinfoil and bake approximately 2,000 potatoes for the dinner. Scout leadership divides the duties between the local troops. Some troops will clean the pots and pans, finishing close to midnight. Others will man the food lines and serve close to 2,000 participants.

All of the Expo participants at the show will be served by the Scouts in their booths. The Scouts will always be in uniform while selling tickets and serving on the food line. The local Moab Scouts invite all to attend and appreciate the support given by the Red Rock 4-Wheelers and those who participate in the annual Easter Jeep Safari.
