

Dining with a Million Dollar View!

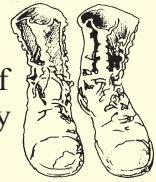

This is more than just the best restaurant in town, we offer a view into the history of Moab, featuring a look at millionaire Charlie Steen's exciting life and contribution to Moab's success. Come up and have a picture with his 3 foot bronze "discovery" boots or take pictures from our patio.

The Sunset Grill sits

cliff side just north of town facing the west rim of Moab. The view from Charlie's house was carefully thought out during construction in 1952 to offer the best view of the sunset and the valley below. This former mansion has been turned into the best restaurant in Moab. Featuring four large dining rooms inside, with a view from every table, with two large terraces 200 feet above the street! The view is exceptional. Interior completely renovated in 2008.

The menu offers the best choice of quality and selection in town. We focus on providing the best hand cut steaks, nicely seasoned and grilled to your satisfaction. We feature a fresh selection of fish weekly flown in during the height of the fishing season. Selections may vary, but we carry only the best! Our specialty pasta dishes are tried and true for the past 15 years; any attempt to alter them would bring the wrath of many far and wide upon us. Each entrée is complete with a garden salad and fresh bread and of course the appropriate accompaniments. We feature the most extensive selection of wine and spirits available in any restaurant in Moab.

The History of the Sunset Grill and Moab is fascinating. Back in the early 1950's the U.S. Government was offering a $10,000.00 reward to anyone who could fill a dump truck full of uranium. Many miners came to the area and were successful in finding small amounts of surface uranium, but as a geologist Charlie Steen knew there was more than just what was on the surface. After a few years, and many false hopes, with his family nearly destitute, his hard work and suffering finally paid off. On July 3rd, 1952 Charlie found the vein in the earth that set the world on fire. The uranium in Charlie's first mine, which he aptly named "Mi Vida" (meaning my life), was worth over $60 million dollars! Moab was changed from a small agricultural town to a major mining mecca overnight, and Charlie Steen was the king. He built his mansion on top of a cliff and the party was started. The world came to see who Charlie was and praise him for helping his country. The restaurant houses a museum of historic pictures on the life of Charlie and the prosperity of Moab throughout the Uranium days. Come up and enjoy a little walk through the past while you dine like a guest of Charlie's.
